Judge Cochran Will Pass On
Railroad Assessment
Case Later.

LONG ARGUMENTS HEARD.

Assistant Attorney General Logan And Col. Stone Occupy
The Entire Day.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 24.—After many hours of argument of the railroad franchise tax cases before Federal Judge Cochran, made by the attorneys for the several railroads, the concluding speeches were made Friday by Assistant Attorney General M. M. Logan, for the State and Col. Henry L. Stone for the L. & N. Railroad Company.

Judge Cochran ordered the railroads to pay their franchise taxes to the counties and school districts on or before December 10 on the basis of last year's assessment—all except the Illinois Central, which maintains it does not owe any.

Judge Cochran said he would take the cases up right after the Christmas holidays and dispose of them.

Helps A Judge In Bad Fix.

Justice Eli Cherry, of Gillis Mills, Tenn., was plainly worried. A bad sore on his leg had baffled several doctors and long resisted all remedies. "I thought it was a cancer," he wrote. "At last I used Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and was completely cured." Cures burns, boils, ulcers, cuts, bruises and piles. 25c at all druggists.

Good Novels Thrown In.

A reader of The Chicago Record-Herald with a mathematical turn of mind has calculated that the serial novels published in that paper in a year represent a saving of from $15 to $18 to its readers. He figures that for the fiction lover it is more economical to subscribe for The Record Herald than to go without it.

"No other large city daily," he continues, "prints so much of the best new fiction, in addition to all the news of the day. Not counting the innumerable short stories in the Sunday Magazine of The Record-Herald, that magazine prints yearly at least four serial novels by some of the best popular authors—Rider Haggard, Conan Doyle, Louis Tracy, George Gibbs, Jeffery Farnol and other in that class. Then in the body of the paper there is nearly always another good serial, running daily and Sunday, which means a complete new novel every month or two, or, say, eight whole books of high-class fiction in a year. At the usual price of $1.50 these twelve novels in book form would cost $18. I get all this thrown in extra with a mighty good newspaper. I call it a bargain."

That is one way to look at it, and it seems to be a sensible way. The real cause of the popularity of The Record-Herald, however, is that it is the best all-around home newspaper in the country.

John Wisaloric, claiming to be a Lieutenant in the German army, tried to kill himself at Chicago because he had just received word that his brother, serving a fifteen-year sentence in a German prison for spitting in Kaiser Wilhelm's face, had died.

Escapes An Awful Fate.

A thousand tongues could not express the gratitude of Mrs. J. E. Cox, of Joliet, Ill., for her wonderful deliverance from an awful fate. "Typhoid pneumonia had left me with an awful cough," she writes. "Sometimes I had such awful coughing spells I thought I would die. I could get no help from doctors' treatment or other medicines till I used Dr. King's New Discovery. But I owe my life to this wonderful remedy for I scarcely cough at all now." Quick and safe, its the most reliable of all throat and lung medicines. Every bottle guaranteed. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free at all druggists.

SHERMAN LAW AMENDMENT.

Tariff Revision Will Probably Not Get Attention at Session.

Washington, Nov. 24.—Congress will reconvene a week from tomorrow for the last short session of republican control in national legislation. Comparatively few senators and representatives had reached Washington today, but discussion has been active during the last week among those early on the scene over plans for the winter's work and the prospects for the special tariff session next spring, when all branches of the government pass into the hands of the democrats.

While the vexing question of the tariff is not scheduled for consideration this winter, the three months of the short session will be crowded with legislative work.

How To Grow.

You may Hooray and Hooray for Hoptown;

That's a good plan; that's a good spiel.

But the way to make things "Get up and move"

Is to put your shoulder against the wheel.

You may kick the Mayor and Council, You may say you don't get a square deal.

But the best way I know to make things go

Is to put your shoulder 'gainst the wheel

A long pull and a strong pull;

A pull that will unravel the reel In fair or foul weather, all pull together

And our shoulders 'gainst the wheel.

Stop kicking; don't shrink, but work.

Stick together like bands of steel.

Join the Business Men. things will move then,

With our shoulders 'gainst the wheel.

are mosquitos. As they sting they put deadly malaria germs in the blood. Then follow the icy chills and the fires of fever. The appetite flies and the strength fails; also malaria often paves the way for deadly typhoid. But Electric Bitters kill and cast out the malaria germs from the blood; give you a fine appetite and renew your strength. "After long suffering," wrote Wm. Fretwell, of Lucama, N. C. "three bottles drove all the malaria from my system, and I've had good health ever since." Best for all stomach, liver and kidney ills. 50c at all druggists.

Sample of Ingalls' Satire.

Many years ago, when Senator Ingalls was in the senate, oleomargarine was a bone of contention. The debate led Ingalls to utter one of those epigrammatic sentences which made him famous. "I have never, to my knowledge, tasted oleomargarine," said Ingalls, "but I have stood in the presence of genuine butter with awe for its strength and reverence for its antiquity."

Made His Blessing Retroactive.

The father of a family who has been striving to bring up his children in the way they should go was very much annoyed at his son's uncouth habit of helping himself to a few bites before grace had been said. The stereotyped form called for: "A blessing on what we are about to eat," but one occasion being particularly exasperating, he astounded the young man by adding to his petition, "and on that which has already been eaten."

Thought His Duty Ended.

The Duc de Raguse once explained to the Countess de Boigne the nature of his connection with the emperor and follows: "When the emperor said, 'All for France,' I served with enthusiasm; when he said, 'France and I,' I served with obedience; but when he said, 'I without France,' I felt the necessity of separating from him."
